

California Contingent Worker Privacy Statement

This Contingent Worker Privacy Statement ("Statement") describes the Personal Information Meta Platforms Inc. ("Meta Inc.," "we," "our," or "us") collects or may collect about you and your emergency contacts (collectively, "you" or "your") in the context of your relationship with Meta Inc. as a "Contingent Worker," as well as the purposes for which Meta Inc. collects and uses that information.

As used in this Statement, "Contingent Worker" includes all contractors, independent contractors, and vendor workers; and "Meta" refers to Meta Platforms Inc.

When we say Personal Information in this Statement, we mean information that identifies, relates to, describes, is reasonably capable of being associated with, or could reasonably be linked, directly or indirectly, with you.

I. Does Meta collect my Personal Information?

We collect Personal Information from you directly, from your employer, agency, and other third parties. We may have collected over the past 12 months the following categories of Personal Information:

- Identifiers: Items such as your name, contact information (such as home address, phone number, email address), online identifiers, resumes/CVs, payee information (where appropriate), and any information you make publicly available or you provide to us.
- Professional or Employment Information: Items such as, your employer or agency, department you are assigned to, feedback and other details about your assignment, responses to surveys you complete, events you attended or signed up for.
- Internet or Other Electronic Network Activity Information: Items such as, your device and system information and other information captured on: our IT systems and accounts, Meta products, equipment provided by us, and personal devices that you use for work purposes, as appropriate.
- Audio or Visual Information: Items such as, your photograph, audio or video recordings, or information collected through our security systems such as video surveillance ("CCTV") and facility entry systems.
- Sensitive Personal Information: as defined in the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA), items that you provide us, such as your Social Security, government ID, driver's license, state identification card, or passport number; racial or ethnic origin; health-related information, including physical or mental disability and information relating to accommodations that you may request throughout your assignment (if disclosed); and complete account access credentials, such as computer user names combined with required access/security code or password.
- Other characteristics of protected classifications that you may provide us.

II. How do we use Personal Information?

We use the Personal Information described above in the context of your relationship with Meta as a Contingent Worker. Our business purposes for collecting this information may include:

To manage our relationship with you (or your employer or agency), for example:

- To prepare and enter into a contract with you (or your employer or agency) and to manage all aspects of this relationship;
- To make payments to you (or your employer or agency) and to determine local and foreign taxes, where appropriate;
- To provide feedback about your assignment and to track training you attended, where appropriate;
- To facilitate booking business travel and reimbursement of eligible expenses to you (or your employer or agency), where appropriate;
- To resolve your inquiries if you contact us with questions;
- To give you access to our systems as necessary for you to fulfill your Contingent Worker assignment duties.

To maintain and improve efficiencies and processes in the workplace, to inform management decisions, and for effective personnel administration, for example:

- To prepare management reporting and perform analysis;
- To maintain personnel directories.

To maintain the safety and security of Meta, our personnel and others as required or permitted by law, to comply with contractual obligations, to enforce our policies, and to defend your or Meta's interests in legal proceedings, for example:

- To prevent, detect, and investigate inappropriate or malicious activities. We investigate when we are alerted of potential inappropriate or malicious activity by our internal detection systems or by other means, e.g. reports. Some common scenarios that give rise to the need for investigation include, but are not limited to, indications that information is being disclosed or accessed inappropriately; indications that Meta personnel is abusing internal tools or may be engaging in a policy or legal violation;
- To protect the safety and security of Meta Companies, personnel and customer assets and equipment (including, if applicable, BYOD (bring your own device) equipment), and our offices and sites (including through the use of CCTV and physical access restrictions).
- To defend your or our interests in actual or threatened legal proceedings, or regulatory, administrative, or legislative inquiries or investigations;
- To prevent fraud; and
- We process your information in the context of mergers, acquisitions, and divestitures, in order to manage such transactions.

Where legal and regulatory obligations may require us to do so, for example:

- In relation to work permits (as may be necessary), and complying with immigration requirements;
- For the purposes of financial and tax regulation, we share required information with applicable tax, social welfare, employment authorities;
- To comply with health and safety obligations;

- To provide a working environment free from unlawful discrimination (e.g. diversity and equal opportunities monitoring), to make reasonable accommodations for our workforce, and complying with other employment protection and social security and social protection legislation.

To protect the vital interests of our workforce and others, for example:

- To protect the health and safety of our workforce and others in our facilities (e.g., to monitor and limit transmission of infectious diseases in the workplace);
- To maintain the safety, integrity, and security of Meta, its personnel, and others as required or permitted by law, including but not limited to conducting background and security checks. Further, we may review and use any information collected pursuant to our Data Policy to promote safety and security on and off Meta products;
- To reach you (or your employer or agency) in case of potential emergencies.

III. How do we use Sensitive Personal Information?

We collect sensitive personal information about you, as defined in the CCPA and in the context of your relationship with Meta as a Contingent Worker, for the following business purposes:

- To provision assignment related services reasonably expected by an individual in the context of their relationship as a Contingent Worker;
- To prevent, detect, and investigate security incidents that compromise the availability, authenticity, integrity, or confidentiality of stored or transmitted personal information;
- To resist malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal actions directed at us and to prosecute those responsible for those actions;
- To ensure the physical safety of natural persons;
- For short-term, transient use;
- To perform services on behalf of Meta, such as maintaining or facilitating work relationships, processing payments, providing analytic services, providing storage, or providing similar services;
- To verify or maintain the quality or safety of our workplace or employment services, and to make improvements in our workplace and in the employment services offered by Meta; and
- For purposes that do not infer characteristics about you.

In each instance, the use of sensitive personal information is reasonably necessary and proportionate for the purpose outlined above.

For categories of sensitive personal information that we collect, we will only use or disclose it as described in this Statement or otherwise permitted by law, including the CCPA.

IV. How do we disclose Personal Information, including Sensitive Personal Information?

We disclose personal information about you, in the context of your relationship with Meta as a Contingent Worker, for the business purposes described directly above. We don't sell or share as those terms are defined in the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA), any of your personal information (including sensitive personal information), nor have we sold or shared any personal information (including sensitive personal information) in the preceding 12 months.

Here is a summary of the CCPA-related categories of personal information we may have disclosed about you, and with whom, over the past 12 months:

Categories of Personal Information we disclose may include:	Parties with whom each category of Personal Information may be disclosed include:
• Identifiers • Characteristics of protected classifications, if you choose to provide it • Professional or employment information • Internet/Network Activity Information • Audio or Visual Information	• Contractors and service providers, including those who provide us with IT services, employment related services (such payroll, expenses, human resources, security, visa and travel agencies, employee assistance and relocation); • Partners and joint venture; • Your employer or agency; • New owners in the event of a change of ownership or control of all or part of our Products or their assets changes; • Law enforcement or other third parties in connection with legal requests; and • The Meta Companies.
• Sensitive Personal Information	• Contractors and service providers, including those who provide us with IT services, employment related services (such payroll, expenses, human resources, security, visa and travel agencies, employee assistance and relocation); • New owners in the event of a change of ownership or control of all or part of our Products or their assets changes; • Law enforcement or other third parties in connection with legal requests; and • The Meta Companies.

V. How long will we retain your Personal Information, including Sensitive Personal Information?

We'll retain your personal information, including sensitive personal information, for as long as is reasonably necessary for the business purposes described in this Statement.

Here are the factors we consider when determining the length of time to retain personal information:

- The specific business purpose for collecting each category of personal information;
- If we need the personal information to manage our relationship with you or your employer or agency;

- Whether and for how long we need to retain the information to comply with certain legal obligations;
- If we need the information to resolve a dispute or to enforce our contractual agreements; and
- If we need it for other legitimate purposes, such as to prevent harm, promote safety, security and integrity, or protect ourselves, including our rights, property or products.

In each instance, the use of sensitive personal information is reasonably necessary and proportionate for the purpose outlined above.

We do not use or disclose sensitive personal information for purposes other than those specified in this Statement.

VI. How can you exercise your rights provided under the CCPA?

Under the CCPA, you have the following rights in relation to personal information that we collect about you in relation to your time as a Contingent Worker at Meta:

- Right to Know: You have the right to request that we disclose to you the personal information we collect, use, or disclose, and information about our data practices;
- Right to Request Deletion: You have the right to request that we delete your personal information that we have collected from or about you;
- Right to Correct: You have a right to request that we correct inaccurate personal information maintained about you; and
- Right to Non-Discrimination: We will not discriminate against you for exercising any of these rights.

Please note that to protect your information and the integrity of your personal information and sensitive personal information, we may need to verify your identity before processing your request. In some cases we may need to collect additional information to verify your identity, such as a government issued ID.

Under the CCPA, you may exercise these rights yourself or you may designate an authorized agent to make these requests on your behalf. Please note, we will request your authorized agent to provide a signed permission from you as proof that they are authorized to submit the request on your behalf. We may also request that you verify your own identity with us directly or confirm directly with us that you provided the authorized agent permission to submit the request.

To exercise any of your rights under the CCPA, please contact us at mydataprivacyrights@meta.com.

VII. How can you contact us for more information?

If you have additional questions or concerns about our privacy policies and practices, please visit the Ask the People Team page on the People Portal.

VIII. How will we communicate changes to this Statement?

We may update this Statement from time to time, to account for the regulatory environment and changes in our collection and/or processing of personal data. If we make material changes to this Statement, we will share the updated statement with you and take any other steps required by applicable law. If you have questions in this regard, please contact us at CWx@fb.com.

Date of last revision: 01/01/2023